

Saturday 20th February 2021, 5pm
Online via Zoom

The New Oxford Organ Method

Anne Marsden Thomas and Frederick Stocken

On Saturday 20th February 2021 at 5pm (GMT +8, Singapore Standard Time), Singapore AGO is delighted to welcome two of the most outstanding organ teachers of today for a live, exclusive and interactive showcase of their newly-published and highly-acclaimed tutor book, The New Oxford Organ Method.

Anne Marsden Thomas is Director of Music at St Giles, Cripplegate (London, UK), and one of the most influential organ teachers of today, having authored and edited more than 20 books for organists.

Dr Frederick Stocken is organist of St George's Metropolitan Cathedral, (London, UK) and a distinguished teacher and composer.

Join us and meet these eminent musicians and teachers, who will respond to your comments and questions on techniques for learning the organ successfully. Pick up useful tips for your organ practice, performance and teaching!

All are welcome. Absolutely anyone - student, teacher or performer; from beginner to advanced - who is interested in the organ, and looking to improve and update their skills, is warmly invited.

We look forward to seeing as many members and friends from Singapore, around Asia and the region as possible, at our first online meeting of the year!

Click here to sign up for this event:

<https://forms.gle/6rHpHfe623VWekMe7>

Joining details will be circulated to attendees before the event. For any enquiries, please contact:
AGOSingapore@gmail.com

You can also find more information and sample material on the Oxford University Press website:

<https://global.oup.com/academic/product/the-new-oxford-organ-method-9780193518322?cc=us&lang=en&#>